

As World Warms, Heart-Breaking Video Shows What It Looks Like When a Polar Bear Starves

By Julia Conley

Global Research, December 09, 2017

Common Dreams 8 December 2017

Region: Canada

Theme: Environment

A video of a starving polar bear led to calls for climate change denialists to confront the real-world effects of global warming this week. Taken by a Canadian conservationist and photographer and posted to social media, the video offered a stark visual of the drastic impacts of climate change that have already begun taking root.

Paul Nicklen was traveling with the conservation group Sea Legacy in Canada's Baffin Islands, located in the Arctic, when he spotted the emaciated animal struggling to walk across the dry land—historically covered with ice in December and home to seals that polar bears rely on for food. The bear searched in vain for sustenance in a trashcan before collapsing.

"When scientists say bears are going extinct, I want people to realize what it looks like," said Nicklen in an interview with National Geographic. "Bears are going to starve to death. This is what a starving bear looks like."

Im so sorry angel?

This polar bear is starving to death, to the point where it's hard for him to even get up/move around. If this hurts to see, then take a step back and acknowledge that if you consume animals you're contributing to this polar bears suffering- pic.twitter.com/SqLQj5Ogci

— ???????? (@figsoverpigs) December 7, 2017

Nicklen received some criticism for filming the bear instead of feeding it, but he argued that sharing the image of the impact of global warming with the largest audience possible would be more productive than intervening by ending the animal's life or feeding it a small amount of food.

"There is no band aid solution. There was no saving this individual bear," he wrote on Instagram where he originally posted the video.

In his interview with National Geographic, Nicklen added,

"it's not like I walk around with a tranquilizer gun or 400 pounds of seal meat."

Polar bears have officially been considered a threatened species since 2008, under the Endangered Species Act, due to the ongoing loss of their icy habitats in Arctic regions.

The bears are accustomed to going without food in summer months when ice dries up, but unusually warm temperatures have caused them to fast for unhealthy periods of time and potentially starving to death.

The U.S. Geological Survey reported earlier this year that the increasingly rapid rate of melting sea ice in the Arctic is an existential threat to polar bears.

On social media, viewers of Nicklen's video called for political leaders like President Donald Trump, who has refused to take part in global efforts to minimize the warming of the Earth by reducing carbon emissions, to reconsider their climate-wrecking actions.

@realDonaldTrump @GOP @DNC This is a starving polar bear. This is how climate change kills... slowly, painfully. This is unacceptable. You have the ability to help. Please do. ?@cmittmermeier pic.twitter.com/sxTyuUyPul

— Alexa Q. Shunner (@PantsCatPants) December 5, 2017

THIS is what we humans are doing to our planet, to animals that have lived here much longer than we have. Starving them to death.

What will it take for us to wake up? #climatechange #climateaction<https://t.co/OOvQIEjYCN>

— Dr Lauren Gavaghan (@DancingTheMind) December 8, 2017

They should show this video in congress <https://t.co/1FzgZspjZ2> via @NatGeo

— Alec Luhn (@ASLuhn) December 8, 2017

For all of you still trying to hold a ridiculous "debate" about whether there's something wrong with our planet, please watch this, if you can. <https://t.co/f4HcSIWNlt>

— Kim Murphy, LA Times (@kimmurphy) December 8, 2017

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-Share Alike 3.0 License

The original source of this article is Common Dreams

Copyright © Julia Conley, Common Dreams, 2017

---

Comment on Global Research Articles on our Facebook page

Become a Member of Global Research

Articles by: Julia Conley

Disclaimer: The contents of this article are of sole responsibility of the author(s). The Centre for Research on Globalization will not be responsible for any inaccurate or incorrect statement in this article. The Centre of Research on Globalization grants permission to cross-post Global Research articles on community internet sites as long the source and copyright are acknowledged together with a hyperlink to the original Global Research article. For publication of Global Research articles in print or other forms including commercial internet sites, contact: publications@globalresearch.ca

www.globalresearch.ca contains copyrighted material the use of which has not always been specifically authorized by the copyright owner. We are making such material available to our readers under the provisions of "fair use" in an effort to advance a better understanding of political, economic and social issues. The material on this site is distributed without profit to those who have expressed a prior interest in receiving it for research and educational purposes. If you wish to use copyrighted material for purposes other than "fair use" you must request permission from the copyright owner.

For media inquiries: publications@globalresearch.ca