The U.S. House of Representatives Committee on Appropriations (CoA), a highly influential US Congressional body on US budget proposals, has advised cutting government funding for the World Health Organization (WHO) entirely, as part of its budget proposal for fiscal year 2024.

The CoA’s bill would also block funding to the Chinese Wuhan Institute of Virology, the EcoHealth Alliance, as well as gain-of-function research. In addition, the legislation would terminate US government involvement in the World Economic Forum (WEF).

This bombshell report was published a few days ago by RFK Jr’s Defender, based on extensive interviews with concerned US Congress people. See this full report by Michael Nevradikis, Ph.D, a regular contributor to the Children’s Health Defense Newsletter.

The proposal would enhance the US government's attempt to ban "misinformation" and "disinformation" programs, and to retain – and even bring back – the US's Constitutional sovereignty and citizen's right to free speech and expression.

Cutting US funding to the WHO would amount to about US$ 700 million savings per year. With Big Pharma, Bill Gates and other interest groups funding more than 80% of WHO's budget, the US$ 700 million – though by far the largest country contribution to the "health organization", may not be a lot, but it has significant symbolic and political meaning.

Other nations look to the US, since many, especially from the Global South, are fed-up with WHO's scandalous Covid imposition during the past three years, WHO's impending health tyranny through the planned revised International Health Regulations (IHR) and the fully integrated so-called "Pandemic Treaty". If the US dares take this drastic, but necessary step, others who feel likewise may follow suit.

The new IHR cum Pandemic Treaty would literally deprive each of the 194 WHO member countries of their Constitutional sovereignty over national health issues, amounting to a WHO dictatorship, the extent of which can hardly be envisioned, but in the current neoliberal globalist Big Finance directed worldwide lawlessness, may well become a tyranny humanity has not experience in recent history.

Individual Congress people such as Rep. Ralph Norman (Rep. S.C.), a particular opponent of WHO's course towards dictatorial oppression of the worst kind, have voiced their strong opposition to WHO. In a special communication to House Speaker, Kevin McCarthy, Norman lauded the speaker for supporting the WHO defunding bill. Norman also urged Rep. Michael McCaul (R-Texas), chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, "to conduct oversight and consider taking up legislation to address the United States' involvement" in the WHO. This may be interpreted as suggesting exiting the pseudo-UN agency.

Norman, as well as other US Congress people, plus a number of medical doctors and scientists applauded the US move against the WHO's "health" aggression of world freedom. Though they realize more was needed to push the bill through the full House and Senate procedural act.

For example, Dr. Kat Lindley, president of the Global Health Project and director of the Global Covid Summit, welcomed the US legislation, and so did Dr. Francis Boyle, PhD, professor of international law at the University of Illinois and a bioweapons expert, who drafted the Biological Weapons Anti-Terrorism Act of 1989.

They stressed the significance of such proposals coming from the appropriations committee.

"This is the committee that counts in the House when it comes to funding everything," Boyle said and added, "This is a good first step, but it is not sufficient."

“Even if we do not pay our dues to the WHO and cut off the funding,” Boyle continued, “we will remain a contracting party to the WHO Constitution and bound by it. So, we have to terminate our participation in the WHO Constitution,” meaning – exiting WHO altogether.

“Congress has the Constitutional authority to do this”, Boyle stressed his point further.

Clearly, this US Congressional move, a Republican initiative, is a tremendous step in the right direction, sends signals to the rest of the world and needs now continuous vigilance, follow-up and vigorous support throughout the Congressional approval process.

It is a promising first step; but no victory yet. However, it is the legendary light that shines through the crack in the wall. Much more than what we have seen over the past several years.
