My take...

These incidents seem to be increasing in frequency, just like the pilot incapacitations in-flight (there were at least 7 pilot incapacitations on commercial planes in March 2023).

The incidents with school buses are particularly frightening with four such incidents in the past few weeks. In each case, either students or teachers took control of the bus and saved the other students.

A reminder that sudden cardiac death can occur any time after COVID-19 vaccination, not just in the first few days or weeks after receiving a jab.
