

Corporate News is Losing Its Readers. Support Truth in Media

Global Research Readers' Comments

Sixteen years ago, from modest beginnings, with virtually no resources, Global Research was born. Among our first articles was coverage of the events surrounding 9/11 and the subsequent US-NATO invasion of Afghanistan on October 7.

Since the inception of our website on September 9, 2001, several thousand committed authors and journalists have contributed to Global Research, providing an independent analysis and honest understanding of World events. From the very outset, our readers have relentlessly supported the GR project:

"Global Research is my first choice for alternative news. As with any news, I examine all the contradictions and I find more often than not the facts here are accurate and the opinions and journalism are informed and first rate.

I disregard those who would broad brush this organization simply because it often contradicts the narrative of the NYT, WashingtonPost, CNN and other MSM propaganda-parrots of the official Western corporatocracy favoring perspective.

I would trust this site and its news before I would trust any of the corporate news sources which are losing readership, audience, and trust as this site and its investigative depth and trust are only growing and becoming more authoritative. (GR Reader Comment, Facebook)

One of the best sources of information that you will ever find. You can't depend on corporation media for honest information when their main purpose is to protect other profit first partners. The Global Research (Centre for Research on Globalization) proves that independent media is the only way to stay informed. (GR Reader Comment on Facebook)

Global Research is a credible source of information and opinions even the one's I don't agree with. I personally don't trust most mainstream media and need an independent insight on what is going on around the world and specifically in our region in the Middle East. Global Research offers that independent insight for me. I trust GR news more than the BBC. (GR Reader's Comment, Facebook)

At this juncture, Global Research is facing financial difficulties.

Together with our readers, we share a “Dream of a World without War and Social Injustice.

For that Dream to become a reality, the media propaganda apparatus which sustains the legitimacy to America’s “humanitarian wars” must be confronted.

This is no easy task: The Western media is controlled by a handful of powerful business syndicates. The media conglomerates must be challenged through cohesive actions which reveal the lies and falsehoods.
