This Week's Guests: Danny Schechter, James Petras and Jane Mayer

Host: Stephen Lendman

Danny Schechter is a media activist, critic, independent filmmaker, TV producer as well as an author and lecturer on media issues. Some call him "The News Dissector," and that's the name of his popular blog on media issues. He's also co-founder of Media Channel.org. It covers the "political, cultural and social impacts of the media" and provides real information about it unavailable in the mainstream.

Schechter has a new book out soon titled "Plunder: Investigating Our Economic Calamity and the 'Sub Crime Scandal.'" A preview of its contents and his media activism will be discussed on the program.

Jane Mayer is a political and investigative journalist and staff writer for The New Yorker magazine. She's also the author of a new book titled "The Dark Side: The Inside Story of How the War on Terror Turned into a War on American Ideals."

Based on evidence from military officers, intelligence professionals and other "hard-line law-and-order stalwarts," she writes about decisions at the highest levels to make "torture (official policy) in all but name," and it's no longer secret.

Mayer's book and torture as official US policy will be discussed on the program.

James Petras is Binghamton University, New York Professor Emeritus of Sociology. His credentials and achievements are long and impressive as a noted academic figure on the left, well-respected Latin American expert, and longtime chronicler of the region's popular struggles.

He's also a prolific author of hundreds of articles and dozens of books, including his newest due out in late August: "Zionism, Militarism, and the Decline of US Power" to be discussed on a future program. Petras writes extensively on the Middle East, the power of the Israeli Lobby, and the possibility of war on Iran to be discussed during the hour.

RBN is on KU Satellite: Transponder Frequency 11836, Symbol Rate 20770, @ 97 degrees west.

About Global Research Hosts

Award winning author and economics professor Michel Chossudovsky is Director of the Centre for Research on Globalization, Montreal, which hosts the critically acclaimed website: www.globalresearch.ca.

Michel Chossudovsky has taught at universities and academic institutions in North America, Western Europe, Latin America, Asia and the Pacific. He has undertaken field-research in all major regions of the developing World and has traveled to over 100 countries.

“It was as a young visiting professor at the Catholic University in Santiago, Chile, that Chossudovsky’s interest in “economic repression” was first pricked. Augusto Pinochet’s military junta, which overthrew Salvador Allende in 1973, quadrupled the price of bread and introduced other measures that would now be referred to as “a structural adjustment program.” Chossudovsky set out, with a doctor, to study the malnourishment resulting from the bread price hike. He wound up with a paper that held the Pinochet regime responsible not only for conventional forms of political repression but for “economic repression” that impoverished three-quarters of Chile’s population. Since then he has documented the purposeful impoverishment of people in dozens of countries.”
(Juliet O'Neill, The Ottawa Citizen)

Michel Chossudovsky has also worked for several United Nations organizations on missions to Latin America and sub-Saharan Africa and has acted as adviser to governments of developing countries.

He is an active member of the Canadian antiwar movement and has written extensively on US and allied war plans in the Balkans and the Middle East.

He is the author of several international best sellers including The Globalization of Poverty and the New World Order (2003) and America’s “War on Terrorism” (2005) and more than 500 articles. His writings have been translated into more than 25 languages. He is also a contributor to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.
