The Declaration of Canadian Physicians for Science and Truth, which rebuts the recent unethical statement of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario (Apr 30, 201), is now up on the internet. (posted on Global Research). We believe that this Declaration has global significance.

In the Canadian province of Ontario, the regulatory medical College has publicly stated that doctors must now follow public health policy, even when it is harming patients, or face punishment. This issue is not only about the province of Ontario or even the physicians of Canada. It is an international concern regarding unethical overreach by authorities that affects the way doctors practice or fear to practice in all countries around the world. It does not allow us to put the welfare of our patients first.

The statement from the Ontario college essentially says “Do as you are told or you will be sanctioned as a doctor.”

In the current global environment of misinformation and coercion by powerful government and public health authorities, we cannot allow this statement to go unchallenged. If it can happen in Canada, it can happen in every country and already has in many.

We ask you, as our global medical brethren, to read our Declaration and sign it. When choosing who comes first — the patient or regulatory policy –, we must stand shoulder-to-shoulder and united in our decision. It is the patient.
