

Did An Israel Lobby Front Group Organize McCain's Trip To Syria?

By Maidhc Ó'Cathail

Global Research, June 07, 2013

Information Clearing House 5 June 2013

Region: Middle East & North Africa

In-depth Report: SYRIA

In an attempt to dispel embarrassing reports that Senator John McCain's "surprise" trip to Syria featured a meeting with kidnappers — including Mohammad Nour of the Northern Storm rebel group — behind the 2012 abduction of 11 Lebanese religious pilgrims, The Daily Beast's Josh Rogin cited Mouaz Moustafa, the executive director of a little-known organization called The Syrian Emergency Task Force:

"Nobody self-identified as Nour, and none of the guys who were standing outside were in the meeting with McCain," said Mouaz Moustafa, executive director of the Syrian Emergency Task Force, an American nonprofit that helped organize the McCain trip. Moustafa is in the picture and was also inside McCain's meeting with the rebel commanders, along with Task Force political director Elizabeth O'Bagy.

Rogin's defense of McCain, of course, rests on the perceived independence of Moustafa's "NGO." The Syrian Emergency Task Force, however, appears to have close ties to one foreign government and its powerful American lobby. Not only is Mouaz Moustafa listed as one of the Washington Institute's "experts," he recently addressed the AIPAC-created think tank's annual Soref symposium on the theme of "Inside Syria: The Battle Against Assad's Regime."

Even more intriguingly, one of the web addresses for Moustafa's nonprofit is "syriantaskforce.torahacademybr.org." The "torahacademybr.org" URL belongs to the Torah Academy of Boca Raton, Florida whose academic goals notably include "inspiring a love and commitment to Eretz Yisroel."

Of course, none of this will come as any surprise to those familiar with John McCain's lifelong service to the Land of Israel, a commitment that has invariably been at the expense of U.S. interests.

Update: Asked by a social media friend for his thoughts on my piece, Moustafa tweeted:

"utter BS I was born in a refugee camp denied entry to Palestinian territories by Israel even with American passport"

Perhaps his friends in the lobby can put in a good word for him.

After all, he helped organize their leading American asset's trip to Syria; he's a contributor to WINEP's forum for Arab democrats; and for a dispossessed Palestinian refugee bears remarkably few grudges. "The Jewish American community here has always supported humanitarian causes and has always stood by the right thing," he recently told the Jewish Daily Forward, "and I hope they'll continue to do so."

Maidhc Ó Cathail is an investigative journalist and Middle East analyst. He is also the creator and editor of The Passionate Attachment blog, which focuses primarily on the U.S.-Israeli relationship. You can follow him on Facebook and Twitter @O\_Cathail.

The original source of this article is Information Clearing House
Copyright © Maidhc Ó'Cathail, Information Clearing House, 2013

---

Comment on Global Research Articles on our Facebook page

Become a Member of Global Research

Articles by: Maidhc Ó'Cathail

Disclaimer: The contents of this article are of sole responsibility of the author(s). The Centre for Research on Globalization will not be responsible for any inaccurate or incorrect statement in this article. The Centre of Research on Globalization grants permission to cross-post Global Research articles on community internet sites as long the source and copyright are acknowledged together with a hyperlink to the original Global Research article. For publication of Global Research articles in print or other forms including commercial internet sites, contact: publications@globalresearch.ca www.globalresearch.ca contains copyrighted material the use of which has not always been specifically authorized by the copyright owner. We are making such material available to our readers under the provisions of "fair use" in an effort to advance a better understanding of political, economic and social issues. The material on this site is distributed without profit to those who have expressed a prior interest in receiving it for research and educational purposes. If you wish to use copyrighted material for purposes other than "fair use" you must request permission from the copyright owner.

For media inquiries: publications@globalresearch.ca