The phenomenon of SADS - “Sudden Adult Death Syndrome” is a brand new phenomenon since COVID-19 mRNA vaccines rolled out in the general population starting in December 2020.

Perfectly healthy, young COVID-19 vaccinated people go to sleep and never wake up. There is no struggle. They die “peacefully” and their families, who never had any warning signs, are left in utter shock and horror.

Here are 13 such cases of young people dying in their sleep in 2023:

I have COVID. Fully vaccinated and boosted and yet it is spreading like wildfire and it's only a matter of time before you get it, too, I fear. I went to QuickCare as I've been feeling unwell since Tuesday and they confirmed it. Piper and I went shopping downtown and to the mall (masked) this weekend, and while we masked, many didn't.

With this new Omicron variant, it only takes 10 seconds around someone with COVID to become infected. COVID don't play. Please mask up and get vaccinated when you can.

He my very best friend, my other half, truly the only one who has ever known every part of me, I miss him more than anything. This feels lik... See more

My Take...

SADS (Sudden Adult Death Syndrome) didn't really exist before COVID-19 mRNA vaccines were forced on the entire population.

There was a related phenomenon called Sudden Arrhythmic Death Syndrome which was extremely rare and was caused by congenital anomalies that predisposed young people to sudden cardiac death.

A UK study showed these sudden deaths occurred at a rate of 1.6 deaths per million population per year, with a mean age of 32 years old (click here)

53% of SADS had an inherited heart disease, usually an arrhythmia. (click here)

30% of SADS families had a history of additional unexplained premature sudden deaths (click here)

In the cases presented here, young healthy people are dying in their sleep very likely due to COVID-19 mRNA Vaccine induced myocarditis which, in the presence of a surge of stress hormones during times such as the early morning hours when the body is waking up, can cause sudden cardiac arrhythmias which are often fatal.
