Global Research has been reporting on pressing issues on a daily basis — from the COVID-19 crisis, democratic erosion, human rights abuses, climate change, oil and gas crisis, to the Ukrainian conflict.

However, we have been particularly affected by the ongoing censorship against independent media.

We have maintained a steady core readership, with some obvious constraints. Search engines do not anymore carry our content despite full title search.

If you value our activities and find us a valuable source of information, we really need your help. We encourage you to do the following:

- Subscribe to our newsletter.
- Forward our daily selection of articles to people who might benefit from reading it.
- Share your favorite Global Research articles on social media. We have share buttons in the article page for your convenience.

If you have the means, we also encourage you to donate or become a member of Global Research. Please know that we greatly appreciate anything that you do to keep us floating.
