Drone incursion proves U.S. Afghan bases are threat to region

An Iranian Foreign Ministry official says the United States' military bases in Afghanistan are a serious threat to security in the region, MNA reported.

Mohsen Pak-Aeen, who is the director of the Foreign Ministry department for Afghan affairs, commented on the U.S. spy drone that was recently downed by the Iranian Armed Forces.

The incident proves Iran's claim that the U.S. bases in Afghanistan are a serious threat to security in the region.
