My main argument about the Holocaust has always been "come on, this is cartoonish evil - people don't act like that."

However, insofar as Jews are "people," they are proving wrong my assumption.

"There are bodies by the tens! Bulldozers ran them over & then left! This whole area is filled with bodies!"

I recently heard John Mearsheimer say that the Jews have no fear of being brought before a war crimes tribunal. He said that the language being used, calling the Arabs "subhuman animals," could be used in such a trial, but there was no chance of that happening because America and/or the Jews control these tribunals. However, I'm not really so sure that's correct.

I think the world is still processing that this is actually happening – that we've spent 3 months watching the Jews murder children. However, when it sets in what has happened, I think it is going to be very easy for the rest of the world to organize against the United States, which is ultimately responsible for this situation.

I think we could live to see Jews put on trial for this.

Israeli soldiers raiding a hospital in northern Gaza desecrated the bodies of dead patients with bulldozers, let a military dog maul a man in a wheelchair, and shot multiple doctors even after vetting them for terror links, according to allegations by staff and patients.

The claims relate to an eight-day operation by the Israel Defense Forces (IDF) at the Kamal Adwan Hospital last week, which the military alleges was being used as a command and control center by Hamas.

Every hospital is a Hamas base.

CNN spoke to two senior medical staff, another doctor and a patient at the hospital, who provided corroborating testimonies of what happened. CNN also reviewed video evidence for some of the claims.

They paint a disturbing picture of how the IDF carried out the operation, as doctors were interrogated for their connections to Hamas and staff struggled to treat patients trapped inside.

The IDF says that Hamas hides terrorist infrastructure in and around civilian institutions in Gaza, such as hospitals, and that targeting them is essential as it works to eliminate Hamas from the Gaza Strip. But its operations are contentious, with humanitarian organizations saying that medical facilities in Gaza are rendered unable to provide basic services.

They've claimed this for years, but there's never been any evidence.

It would make sense to claim this, however, if you wanted to murder civilians on a large scale, while claiming it is a legitimate military operation.

That said, I don't think anyone even claims this is a legitimate military operation at this point. Even the people who support it just say they support mass-murdering Arab children.

Among the most serious allegations relating to the IDF's operations at Kamal Adwan is that, as troops were leaving the hospital complex, they used bulldozers to dig up bodies that had recently been buried in makeshift graveyards in the hospital's courtyard.

"The soldiers dug up the graves this morning and dragged the bodies with bulldozers, then crushed the bodies with the bulldozers," said the hospital's head of pediatric services, Hossam Abu Safiya, in a phone interview on Saturday. "I have never seen such a thing before."

No one has ever seen anything like that before. This is exactly the sort of thing the Jews claimed the Nazis did, and everyone laughed because it was so ridiculous.

Now, it seems, we're seeing that the Jews were able to make up these stories about the Nazis because it's what they would have actually done to people. This is a sort of "a-ha" moment there, perhaps.

Videos and images he shared with CNN show decomposing human remains scattered across the hospital grounds.

The allegation was supported by the hospital's head of nursing, Eid Sabbah, and another nurse, Asmaa Tanteesh.

"The bodies outside in the courtyard were plowed in front of our eyes," Tanteesh told CNN. "All the while, we were shouting and screaming at them, but our screams fell on deaf ears."

Satellite imagery taken on December 15 – right before the IDF withdrew from the hospital area – shows razed grounds outside the hospital complex.

The IDF did not address the allegations directly when approached for comment by CNN but acknowledged that it had carried out an operation at the hospital. "The troops apprehended 80 terrorists, some of whom took part in the atrocious October 7th massacre," it said in a statement to CNN.

Well, why aren't they being paraded around then? If they actually arrested people from October 7th, surely they would be parading them around?

There is in fact zero evidence that they've captured any Hamas, at all. I assume they must have killed some. But there is no evidence of any captures.

Here, you must assume, they just arrested random hospital staff.

Earlier this week, the IDF released a video of the interrogation of the hospital's director and published an accompanying statement saying he admitted it was being used for military purposes. It was unclear whether the statement was elicited under duress.

Abu Safiya, the pediatrics director, and Sabbah, the chief nurse, countered that the hospital only provided medical services and that the arrestees were civilians and medical workers.

Of course the statement was "elicited under duress." Israel tortures everyone.

After they bomb you, then they come in and bulldoze you, then they arrest you and torture you.

Standard Jewish practices.

Now, the whole world sees the Jews as I see Jews.

I'm thankful to them for exposing themselves like this.

There was no chance of the whole world believing me until they saw it.
