

Israeli administration imprisoning mothers and wives of political prisoners to pressure confessions

By Mustafa Sabre

Global Research, April 22, 2007

Palestine News Network 21 April 2007

Region: Middle East & North Africa

Theme: Crimes against Humanity,
Intelligence

In-depth Report: PALESTINE

Kawthar Nofal told PNN that Israeli intelligence has taken to arresting the mothers and wivers of Palestinian political prisoners in order to extract confessions.

Nofal, known as Umm Said for her eldest son, said that the idea is to threaten the prisoners by harming their loved ones. Israeli intelligence wants information, and will take what they can get, real or fabricated, the northwestern West Bank woman said candidly on Saturday.

"They arrested me from inside my house after the arrest of others in my family, and immediately took me to Jalama Prison so that my captive son, Said, could see that they had me."

Now out of prison, Umm Said, continued, "I was subjected to two hours of interrogation tied to a chair with my feet and hands bound in chains without mercy or compassion."

The woman said, "Intelligence officers told me that that I would be kept in prison and so would the men in my family. But I answered with confidence and pride. I said, 'Jail is not only inhabited by men and I do not fear for my children.'"

She described further assaults on her family. "My husband is sick and in need of care. And they bring a patient to the prison."

Umm Said said that the threat was for the future as well. "They said that I would not be able to visit my children in the prisons and if I did I would be watched and monitored, subjected to other things."

The Qaliqilia mother described the conditions of Jalama Prison built on Jenin lands in the northern West Bank. "The cell was so narrow. After two days one came and asked me if was still alive. I told him that I live with the Lord and pray to God while in the cell. 'I am not alone as you think,' I told him. He was angered and walked away."

Umm Said described the moments before she was released from the Israeli prison. "Hours before the release I fainted, lost consciousness fully. And I woke up in the prison infirmary after my blood pressure fell due to the poor conditions in the cell and during the times of interrogation. After I was released they continued to pressure my family who have lived harsh weeks in the cells of Jalama."

**Comment on Global Research Articles on our Facebook page**

**Become a Member of Global Research**

Articles by: Mustafa Sabre

Disclaimer: The contents of this article are of sole responsibility of the author(s). The Centre for Research on Globalization will not be responsible for any inaccurate or incorrect statement in this article. The Centre of Research on Globalization grants permission to cross-post Global Research articles on community internet sites as long the source and copyright are acknowledged together with a hyperlink to the original Global Research article. For publication of Global Research articles in print or other forms including commercial internet sites, contact: publications@globalresearch.ca

www.globalresearch.ca contains copyrighted material the use of which has not always been specifically authorized by the copyright owner. We are making such material available to our readers under the provisions of "fair use" in an effort to advance a better understanding of political, economic and social issues. The material on this site is distributed without profit to those who have expressed a prior interest in receiving it for research and educational purposes. If you wish to use copyrighted material for purposes other than "fair use" you must request permission from the copyright owner.

For media inquiries: publications@globalresearch.ca