"A confession from [America's] puppet pointing to evidence," said journalist Gustavo Villapol Wednesday, noting that the deputy of the National Assembly in contempt Juan Guaidó confessed to be behind the attacks perpetrated against the National Electric Service (SEN) that have affected the Venezuelan people since last March 7.

"The gentleman, Deputy Guaidó, has told the world that they are behind this devious and terrorist attack against the Electric System," he said during an interview on the Punto de Encuentro program broadcast by Venezolana de Televisión.

"There will be no solution to the electrical problem, there will be no water to the houses much less domestic gas". the parliamentarian of Voluntad Popular stated verbatim.

"We will generate the necessary internal pressure to add up in this process of definitive cessation of the usurpation," he is heard saying in the video broadcast from the floor of the Federal Legislative Palace.

"And I repeat, the cessation of darkness will definitely come with the cessation of usurpation," culminated his TV intervention.

Journalist Gustavo Villapol described Guaidó as a symbolic expression of the new political-military doctrine that Donald Trump is trying to develop from the presidency of the United States (USA).
