She's now the editor of Solari.com and runs Solari, Inc. It's an "online media company focused on ethical investment and preserving family wealth. Long ago, (she) made a promise (never again to) act against the best interests....of (her) own people (and to do her best) to leave a better world for generations to come."

Her current investment advice: "Bail out of Wall Street." The global economic crisis and Catherine's work will be discussed.

Dianna Butto is a West Bank-based attorney and former legal council to the Palestinian Authority. The Gaza conflict will be discussed.

Michael Carmichael is a distinguished author and historian based in North Carolina. He worked in five American presidential campaigns for progressive candidates from RFK to Clinton. In 2003, he founded The Planetary Movement, a nonprofit public affairs organization. He has appeared as a public affairs expert on the BBC's Today, Hardtalk, and PM, as well as numerous appearances on ITN, NPR and European broadcasts examining politics and culture. He is frequent contributor to Global Research.

He will discussing prospects and policies of the new Obama Administration.

Mazin Qumsiyeh is a scientist, author, and human rights activist. He's taught at Bethlehem University as well as at Tennessee, Duke and Yale. He's now President of the Palestinian Center for Rapprochement Between People and is active in campaigns to end the occupation of Palestine and boycott Israeli goods.
