MP compared use of jabs to ‘biggest crime against humanity’ since Holocaust

Chief whip Simon Hart said his comment ‘crossed the line’ and removed whip

Rishi Sunak has slammed the ‘utterly unacceptable’ actions of a Tory MP who compared the Covid vaccine rollout to the Holocaust.

Andrew Bridgen was stripped of the party whip after an astonishing outburst on Twitter that led to widespread condemnation from politicians, Jewish groups and medical experts.

The MP for North West Leicestershire has made a series of anti-vaxxer claims on social media and in the Commons chamber in recent weeks.

But action was finally taken against him this morning after he shared an article on the Pfizer and Moderna jabs online, based on safety data reportedly from US health agencies, and added: 'As one consultant cardiologist said to me this is the biggest crime against humanity since the holocaust.'

Mr Sunak voiced his own anger after the comment, made in a now-deleted Tweet, was raised by former health secretary Matt Hancock at Prime Minister's Questions.

Tory chief whip Simon Hart took action because the remarks 'crossed a line', and other senior Tory MPs lined up to criticise his remarks.

One said they were 'disgraceful' and another warned that if he prevented people from being vaccinated he would have 'blood on his hands'.

It caps a turbulent period for the now independent MP, who is currently serving a five-day Commons ban for breaking rules on paid lobbying.

The tweet gained 150,000 views in just two hours, with dozens of users of the social media platform hitting out at the 'disgusting analogy' and labelling him 'dangerous'.

Olivia Marks-Woldman, chief executive of the Holocaust Memorial Day Trust, told MailOnline: 'We find it disturbing particularly as we approach Holocaust Memorial Day that some people think it's appropriate to invoke the imagery of the Holocaust to score political points.'

The Worldwide Corona Crisis, Global Coup d'Etat Against Humanity

by Michel Chossudovsky

Michel Chossudovsky reviews in detail how this insidious project “destroys people’s lives”. He provides a comprehensive analysis of everything you need to know about the “pandemic” — from the medical dimensions to the economic and social repercussions, political underpinnings, and mental and psychological impacts.

“My objective as an author is to inform people worldwide and refute the official narrative which has been used as a justification to destabilize the economic and social fabric of entire countries, followed by the imposition of the “deadly” COVID-19 “vaccine”. This crisis affects humanity in its entirety: almost 8 billion people. We stand in solidarity with our fellow human beings and our children worldwide. Truth is a powerful instrument.”
