And the Oscar for Best Documentary Short goes to... "ISIS - Al Qaeda"

By Alex Christoforou, Vanessa Beeley, Eva Bartlett, and Patrick Henningsen, February 27 2017

It should come as no surprise that a film celebrating the White Helmets scooped up an Oscar for best short documentary. Might as well hand the Oscar to ISIS leader Abū Bakr al-Baghdadi. Far from a humanitarian organisation, the White Helmets are an Al Qaeda staffed propaganda group that is embedded with brutal jihadists looking to overthrow the sovereign government of Syria.

Genetics Are the New Eugenics: How GMO's Reduce the Human Population

By F. William Engdahl, February 25 2017

The real agenda of GMO, which I have documented in great detail in my book "Seeds of Destruction", comes from the Rockefeller Foundation. It comes out of the 1920s-1930s Eugenics movement. The Rockefeller Foundation during the 1930's, right up to the outbreak of World War II when it became politically embracing too, financed the Nazi Eugenics experiments of Kaiser Wilhelm Institute in Berlin and in Munich. Why did they do this? Their goal was the elimination of what they called "undesirable eaters". That is called population reduction.

Copyright, Intellectual Property and the Extradition Saga of Kim Dotcom

By Dr. Binoy Kampmark, February 27 2017

The hunger with which US officials pursue copyright or general intellectual property violations is insatiably manic. The degree of that hunger is expressed by the now suspended, and most likely defunct Trans-Pacific Partnership, an attempt to further globalise the policing of IP laws in favour of corporate and copyright control. Then come the vigilantes and those singing different, discordant tunes suggesting another alternative. One such figure was Kim Dotcom, founder of Megaupload and on the US Department of Justice wanted list for some years.

Invasion of Yemen in Blatant Derogation of International Law: Extensive War Crimes Committed

By Dr. Amir A. Amirshakari, February 26 2017

The invasion of Yemen entailed different reactions amongst different countries. Although the US, Canada, France, the UK, Israel, and Turkey, are amongst the supporters of the invasion, Russia, Iran, Iraq and Syria were against the attack. China and the UN also declared their anxiousness about the invasion. Prohibition of the use of force is one of the basic principles on which international law has been founded. According to Article 2(4) of the Charter of the UN, all members shall refrain in their international relations from the threat or use of force against the territorial integrity or political independence of any state.

The Right Way to Challenge Fake News

By Stephen Lendman, February 26 2017

Trump is right challenging fake news. It's about time someone in high office did it. He's going about it the wrong way. Without speech, media and academic freedoms, all other rights are threatened. Barring certain media outlets from attending Friday's White House press briefing while letting others in was wrongheaded and counterproductive.

The Detroit Rebellion of 1967 and Its Global Significance

By Abayomi Azikiwe, February 27 2017

The deliberate distortion of the actual history of Detroit and its African American community is crafted to maintain the social status-quo. Despite the fact that gains were made from the self-organization and emancipatory movements of the post-World War II awakenings and increasing levels of national consciousness, the ruling capitalist class has sought to reverse all advancements won by the people.
