Riding a wave of support from 9/11 activists around the world, Dr. Niels Harrit went to Danish High Court on Thursday, March 12, 2015 to appeal his libel suit against Danish newspaper Weekendavisen.

During the four-hour hearing, Dr. Harrit performed a master class for the three judges and 20 onlookers in the packed courtroom – both with his legal reasoning and with his presentation of the WTC evidence. For a detailed account of the hearing, we invite you to read our just-published article by Danish 9/11 activist Josef Hanji. A decision from the judges is expected on April 9, 2015.

The hearing generated at least two mainstream media reports. One was a relatively balanced profile of Dr. Harrit from the widely-read Politiken (an English translation can be read here); the other was an eight-minute appearance on DR3 TV, one of Denmark's national public television channels, starting at the 11:45 mark (a version with subtitles is forthcoming). We hope more coverage will follow when the decision is issued on April 9.

Lastly, you can watch an interview with Dr. Harrit himself, conducted an hour after the hearing.

We would like to thank everyone who contributed toward Niels Harrit's legal fund. Your generosity made it possible for Dr. Harrit to show in a court of law that the science supporting the WTC controlled demolition theory is not only sound, but is overwhelming.
