Following are the words of a renowned University Professor, a scientist of mathematics, the chairman of the Supervisory Board of a famous German university hospital. And he is not alone. By far.

Millions, tens of millions around the world speak with the same ardor of voice. They are an eye-opener. They are being heard by more and more people around the globe:

“I’m fed up, or to put it even more clearly: I’m sick and tired of the permanent and increasingly religious climate gobbledygook, with energy turnaround fantasies, with electric car worship, with scary stories about doomsday scenarios, alleged overpopulation, CO2 dramas from Corona to conflagrations to weather disasters.

I can no longer stand the people who shout this into microphones and cameras every day or print it in newspapers. I suffer from having to witness how natural science is turned into a whore of politics.”

And then what?

Yes, let’s get these monsters and suckers out of government, out of their self-made international arena – out from the globalist dictatorial phantasies. Let’s abolish the ambiance and conditions under which the fractioneers and ruler over a fractioned world are able to reign.

Let us do away with the world of luxury and luster – where this diabolical cult can prevail.

But, what if we can’t? Because this cult is backed by the powerful and sickening wealthy – and because the majority of We, the People, is still asleep?

Then let's start by us, a minority, building a new society.

That's probably what we have to do anyway sooner or later if humanity is to survive.

Are we ready?

Are we ready to throw our cell phones in the garbage?

Are we ready to thrash and boycott our TVs and mainstream medias?

Are we ready to start local and afresh again?

Local, like in "Local production for local consumption, with local money and trading with likeminded groups of people, according to the principles of comparative advantages and win-win conditions?"

Are we ready starting from scratch?

Forget reform.

The system is rotten and cannot be reformed.

Any reform of the corrupted and rotten system would undoubtedly again be carried out by those corrupted cultists that have rotten humanity and our values in the first place. The same that have fractured the world. They have the power to fake a reform of the People for the People, while fracturing the world to bits and pieces, then pull the broken pieces together and reign over a new globalist world with a tyrannical fist.

That's the way it goes if we let others do our work.

We have to start from scratch – a dynamic evolving of a dynamic group of people.

We may have to live like indigenous people in the highlands of the Andes, the Himalayas, or the rainforests of Amazon region.

Yes, that might be our salvation in this man-made devastated world.

We, the People, with our brainless drive for "growth", for more and more consumption, have let it become what it is today, have allowed to become enslaved by luxury and artificial comfort.

Once our civilization collapses, as it happened already several times before on Mother Earth's watch, if there is any chance for a human continuation, a survival of the human genome – it would be through these indigenous people, the unpolluted minds and genes.

They may survive and will carry humanity forward. Perhaps towards a new awakening. A new civilization? Moving an inch closer to the Fifth Dimension?
