

The Deplorable Witch-Hunt Against Trump. Towards “Regime Change” in America?

By Stephen Lendman

Global Research, June 17, 2017

Region: USA

Theme: Intelligence, Law and Justice

In-depth Report: U.S. Elections

He's dead wrong on vital domestic and geopolitical issues – serving wealth, power and privilege exclusively, harming most others at home and abroad.

He's right about a deplorable witch-hunt – dark forces assaulting the office of the presidency and the nation if successful, an undeclared coup d'état attempt, wanting easily controlled Pence replacing him.

He may have been the deep state's choice for president all along, once Trump emerged last aspirant standing among the array of GOP hopefuls – Pence a neocon Tea Party hardliner, an imperial war cheerleader, an Islamophobe and Russophobe, hostile to immigrant rights, and much more of concern.

He's anti-progressive, anti-social justice, anti-governance serving everyone equitably, anti-abortion rights, anti-LGBT and women's rights, anti-gay marriage, an evangelical supporter of Israel's worst crimes.

He's part of the lunatic fringe infesting Washington, a bigoted Christian white supremacist, a far-right religious fundamentalist, serving in the nation's second highest office.

He's for virtually everything free societies abhor. Americans have just cause to fear a Pence presidency if Trump's ousted from office – from the frying pan to the fire, as the saying goes.

Trump made a colossal mistake appointing him. GHW Bush was much wiser choosing Dan Quayle, unqualified for any public office, unlikely any Washington power broker would want him replacing GHW.

Democrat VP candidate Lloyd Bentsen put him down resoundingly in their one vice-presidential debate, memorably saying “Senator, you're no Jack Kennedy.” Neither was Bentsen or any US president past or present.

It's too late for second thoughts on his VP choice, Trump stuck with Pence, a decision he may long regret if things go against him.

Responding to the assault on his presidency, he tweeted

“(y)ou are witnessing the single greatest WITCH HUNT in American political history – led by some very bad and conflicted people!”

“They made up a phony collusion with the Russians story, found zero proof, so now they go for obstruction of justice on the phony story. Nice”

Tweets aren't the solution to his dilemma, a clear attempt to further denigrate, weaken and oust him from office by whatever means it takes.

He's responsible for appalling domestic and geopolitical policies – including war crimes for escalating aggression in multiple theaters, along with other abuses of rule of law principles.

No legal basis exists for charging him with obstruction of justice. No evidence suggests it. Nothing indicates he or his team colluded improperly or illegally with anyone in Russia.

Law Professor Jonathan Turley advises no tweeting about special counsel Mueller's investigation – calling it “highly damaging to both his public and legal case.”

He should consult his legal team before saying, doing, or tweeting anything relating to the ongoing investigation. They know what's in his best interest, and what can cause him further trouble.

According to Turley, his comments

“into aspects of the investigation could put his position under great scrutiny.”

As they say, anything he says can be used against him. Trump should follow the advice of competent attorneys representing him.

Perhaps it's his only chance to stay in office – besides avoiding one or more assassination attempts.

Stephen Lendman lives in Chicago. He can be reached at lendmanstephen@sbcglobal.net.

His new book as editor and contributor is titled “Flashpoint in Ukraine: How the US Drive for Hegemony Risks WW III.”

<http://www.claritypress.com/LendmanIII.html>

Visit his blog site at sjlendman.blogspot.com.

Featured image: credits to the owner

The original source of this article is Global Research
Copyright © Stephen Lendman, Global Research, 2017

Comment on Global Research Articles on our Facebook page

Become a Member of Global Research

Articles by: Stephen Lendman

About the author:

Stephen Lendman lives in Chicago. He can be reached at lendmanstephen@sbcglobal.net. His new book as editor and contributor is titled "Flashpoint in Ukraine: US Drive for Hegemony Risks WW III."

<http://www.claritypress.com/LendmanIII.html> Visit his blog site at sjlendman.blogspot.com. Listen to cutting-edge discussions with distinguished guests on the Progressive Radio News Hour on the Progressive Radio Network. It airs three times weekly: live on Sundays at 1PM Central time plus two prerecorded archived programs.

Disclaimer: The contents of this article are of sole responsibility of the author(s). The Centre for Research on Globalization will not be responsible for any inaccurate or incorrect statement in this article. The Centre of Research on Globalization grants permission to cross-post Global Research articles on community internet sites as long the source and copyright are acknowledged together with a hyperlink to the original Global Research article. For publication of Global Research articles in print or other forms including commercial internet sites, contact: publications@globalresearch.ca www.globalresearch.ca contains copyrighted material the use of which has not always been specifically authorized by the copyright owner. We are making such material available to our readers under the provisions of "fair use" in an effort to advance a better understanding of political, economic and social issues. The material on this site is distributed without profit to those who have expressed a prior interest in receiving it for research and educational purposes. If you wish to use copyrighted material for purposes other than "fair use" you must request permission from the copyright owner.

For media inquiries: publications@globalresearch.ca