

The Derogation of Justice and Human Rights in Rwanda: Open Letter to Rwanda's Chief Justice on the Case of Dr. Léopold Munyakazi

By Neil Price

Global Research, November 09, 2016

Region: sub-Saharan Africa, USA

Theme: Law and Justice, Police State & Civil Rights

Re: Republic of Rwanda v. Leopold Munyakazi

Dear Chief Justice:

Professor Munyakazi was deported from the United States of America following a decision by the United States Court of Appeal in Richmond, Virginia. That tribunal has a legacy of racism and of discrimination against African people dating from colonial slavery days, the rebellion of the Southern Confederacy, and later, the Ku Klux Klan and Jim Crow resistance to human dignity and civil rights for African Americans.

From my standpoint as a legal observer to the proceedings conducted within the Fourth Circuit, the evidence connecting Professor Munyakazi appeared to be either shallow, and when not that, contrived.

Despite the paucity of evidence and the token due process, Leopold's application for relief was denied by a judiciary hypersensitive to the waves of hysteria permeating American national life against immigrants and refugees.

It was shameful for the U.S. Justice Department, albeit under token African-American executive leadership, to collaborate in an agenda for deportation to satisfy interests other than the interests of substantial justice.

The 2015 Constitution of the Republic of Rwanda is an impressive document containing a courageous and generous declaration to secure a sweeping variety of freedoms and protections for the inhabitants of your beautiful country. The question that I have, is whether they will fully and meaningfully apply to Professor Leopold Munyakazi. In America he has become known as a modest and humane gentleman gifted in his capacity to educate and inspire others.

Is there a provision for legal observers to contribute an amicus curiae brief upon his behalf, to assist the indigent Professor, now reduced to a penniless prisoner of the National Police and Prosecutor General, in making a case for his innocence and his mistaken, if not malicious, prosecution?

Reports are being received from several sources concerned for Leopold's safety in custody. There are indications that he has already received a serious assault in the Brigade prison and further, that he has been administered medications designed to cloud his mentality and inhibit his capacity to defend himself at trial. Are you able to invoke your final superintendency over the lower courts to guarantee that Leopold receives a fair and public trial, presided over by a jurist independent of and indifferent to either fear of or favor to the powers that be?

If you are planning to visit the United States, please feel to contact me. Please use your magisterial authority over the inferior jurisdictions of your Republic to assure that a decent man has his fair day in court.

Respectfully yours,

w/ Enclosures

Neil Price, Esq.

The original source of this article is Global Research
Copyright © Neil Price, Global Research, 2016

Comment on Global Research Articles on our Facebook page

Become a Member of Global Research

Articles by: Neil Price

Disclaimer: The contents of this article are of sole responsibility of the author(s). The Centre for Research on Globalization will not be responsible for any inaccurate or incorrect statement in this article. The Centre of Research on Globalization grants permission to cross-post Global Research articles on community internet sites as long the source and copyright are acknowledged together with a hyperlink to the original Global Research article. For publication of Global Research articles in print or other forms including commercial internet sites, contact: publications@globalresearch.ca www.globalresearch.ca contains copyrighted material the use of which has not always been specifically authorized by the copyright owner. We are making such material available to our readers under the provisions of "fair use" in an effort to advance a better understanding of political, economic and social issues. The material on this site is distributed without profit to those who have expressed a prior interest in receiving it for research and educational purposes. If you wish to use copyrighted material for purposes other than "fair use" you must request permission from the copyright owner.

For media inquiries: publications@globalresearch.ca