

Turning the Page on 2018: Our Hopes for the New Year

By The Global Research Team

Global Research, January 01, 2019

Dear Readers,

2018 has been one of the toughest years GlobalResearch.ca has seen since its inception in 2001. "Telling the truth" is the object of outright censorship. Search engines and social media categorization highlight the corporate media narrative at the expense of critical analysis, which means that our content in their search results and news feeds is being pushed down.

Our finances have also taken a heavy hit. We currently do not cover the costs associated with running the website and are losing money every month.

Though we remain hopeful that we will be able to turn things around in 2019, we won't be able to ride the storm on our own, without the support of our readers. We have received donations and membership subscriptions from a small portion of you and we cannot thank you enough for this. If you haven't done so yet, if you value what we do at GlobalResearch.ca, and if you would like to see this unique resource carry on into the new year and beyond, we ask you to dig deep and make a contribution. Please see below for more details.

We do not doubt that 2019 will present us all with new and unforeseen challenges. We thank you for your support once again, and wish all of you a New Year full of love, light, and peace.
