

The U.N. Is Coming for Your Water

By Cheryl K. Chumley

Theme: Environment, United Nations

Global Research, April 04, 2023

The Washington Times 23 March 2023

All Global Research articles can be read in 51 languages by activating the Translate Website button below the author's name.

To receive Global Research's Daily Newsletter (selected articles), click here.

Click the share button above to email/forward this article to your friends and colleagues. Follow us on Instagram and Twitter and subscribe to our Telegram Channel. Feel free to repost and share widely Global Research articles.

The United Nations is holding its first-in-five-decades conference on water in New York, a gathering that some say could be a "Paris moment" — meaning, the global body could soon do for water what it's sought to do, via treaty, for climate. Meaning, the United Nations is coming for control of the world's water sources.

A Paris-like global agreement on water? Make way for the regulatory nightmares.

Click here to read the full article.

*

Note to readers: Please click the share button above. Follow us on Instagram and Twitter and subscribe to our Telegram Channel. Feel free to repost and share widely Global Research articles.

*Featured image: The Vinuela reservoir is seen with a low water level due to a lack of rain in la Vinuela, southern Spain, Feb. 22, 2022. Declining agricultural yields in Europe, and the battle for diminishing water resources, especially in the southern part of the continent, are key risks as global temperatures continue to rise. These conclusions are part of a new United Nations report that will help countries decide how to prevent the planet from warming further. (AP Photo/Carlos Gil)  FILE ***

The original source of this article is The Washington Times
Copyright © Cheryl K. Chumley, The Washington Times, 2023

Comment on Global Research Articles on our Facebook page

Become a Member of Global Research

Articles by: Cheryl K. Chumley

Disclaimer: The contents of this article are of sole responsibility of the author(s). The Centre for Research on Globalization will not be responsible for any inaccurate or incorrect statement in this article. The Centre of Research on Globalization grants permission to cross-post Global Research articles on community internet sites as long the source and copyright are acknowledged together with a hyperlink to the original Global Research article. For publication of Global Research articles in print or other forms including commercial internet sites, contact: publications@globalresearch.ca www.globalresearch.ca contains copyrighted material the use of which has not always been specifically authorized by the copyright owner. We are making such material available to our readers under the provisions of "fair use" in an effort to advance a better understanding of political, economic and social issues. The material on this site is distributed without profit to those who have expressed a prior interest in receiving it for research and educational purposes. If you wish to use copyrighted material for purposes other than "fair use" you must request permission from the copyright owner.

For media inquiries: publications@globalresearch.ca