

US and Israel Warn Russia Against Supplying Syria with S-300 Air Defense Systems

By Stephen Lendman

Global Research, September 25, 2018

Region: Middle East & North Africa, Russia and FSU

Theme: Militarization and WMD, US NATO War Agenda

In-depth Report: SYRIA

On Monday by phone, Putin informed Assad of his intention to supply Syria's military with sophisticated S-300 air defense systems within two weeks.

They're able to intercept and destroy multiple hostile aircraft, ballistic, and other missiles at distances of over 250 km (over 155 miles).

Installing electronic countermeasures along Syria's coastline to jam satellite navigation, aerial radar systems, and communications of hostile aircraft will significantly bolster Syrian defenses as well.

Washington and its NATO partners use the phony pretext of combating ISIS these countries support as the reason for their military activities in Syria.

Israel claims its terror-bombing is all about combating an Iranian and Hezbollah threat that doesn't exist. They've never targeted the Jewish state aggressively. Iran hasn't attacked another country in centuries – what the US, NATO and Israel do repeatedly.

In 2013, Putin went along with Netanyahu's request not to supply S-300s to Syria's military. Russian Defense Minister Sergey Shoigu said

“(n)ow the situation has changed, and we are not to blame.”

After Israeli “criminal negligence” led to the September 17 downing of a Russian IL-20 reconnaissance plane, Shoigu said the incident wouldn't go unanswered. Indeed not!

Putin told Netanyahu that beefing up Syrian air defense capabilities is all about “preventing any potential threat to the lives of Russian servicemen,” his obligation as president.

US/Israeli pressure and threats aren't likely to get him to back off this time. Russia's Defense Ministry is especially furious about the downing of its aircraft, killing 15 crew members, likely more greatly angered by Israel's arrogant denial of responsibility for what happened.

Indisputable facts debunk the IDF's fabricated account of the incident, making the situation worse, exacerbated further by Israeli arrogance and veiled threats, compounded by Washington's.

A statement by Netanyahu's office said

"(t)he prime minister said providing advanced weapons systems to irresponsible actors (sic) will magnify dangers in the region, and that Israel will continue to defend itself and its interests."

Trump's National Security Advisor John Bolton called Russia's move a "major mistake," adding it'll cause "significant escalation" of tensions.

Washington's military presence in Syria won't end, he vowed, "as long as Iranian troops are outside Iranian borders and that includes Iranian proxies and militias."

Iranian military advisors alone are in Syria legally at the request of Damascus, no combat troops. Hezbollah forces also operate lawfully in the country, invited by Assad to combat ISIS and other US-supported terrorist groups.

Relatively few Iranian military forces operate outside their own territory – none aggressively.

Hundreds of thousands of US combat troops are deployed in scores of countries on every continent – along with countless numbers of so-called private military contractors (PMCs), operating unaccountably, and terrorist groups used as imperial foot soldiers.

Pompeo said he'll raise the issue of Syria's hardened defense capabilities with Sergey Lavrov at the UN General Assembly this week, adding:

"We are trying to find every place we can where there is common ground, where we can work with the Russians." They'll be held "accountable" when working against US interests.

Syria's envoy to Russia Riyad Haddad said his nation's military vitally needs S-300s "to defend Syrian land from Israel's aggressive actions."

Putin's spokesman Dmitry Peskov said hardening Syria's defense capabilities isn't aimed at America, Israel or any other nations. It's to protect Russian forces and other personnel in the country.

Russia's Deputy Foreign Minister Mikhail Bogdanov called supplying Syria's military with S-300s the "right" thing to do.

The Saker said Russian measures "will establish an unofficial no-fly zone over Syria," adding:

The IL-20's downing "fundamentally undermined Israel's relationship with Russia." I believe it changed the relationship short of going this far.

The status quo up to now ended. Events ahead will show to what extent Russia's moves changed the dynamic in Syria.

US-led NATO and Israel can still attack Syrian targets but not as easily as before once Russia's moves are implemented.

Their tactics will likely change. Militarily they have lots of options. They're not about to back off from their regime change objective.

*

Note to readers: please click the share buttons above. Forward this article to your email lists. Crosspost on your blog site, internet forums. etc.

Stephen Lendman lives in Chicago. He can be reached at lendmanstephen@sbcglobal.net.

His new book as editor and contributor is titled "Flashpoint in Ukraine: US Drive for Hegemony Risks WW III."

<http://www.claritypress.com/LendmanIII.html>

Visit his blog site at sjlendman.blogspot.com.

The original source of this article is Global Research
Copyright © Stephen Lendman, Global Research, 2018

Comment on Global Research Articles on our Facebook page

Become a Member of Global Research

Articles by: Stephen Lendman

About the author:

Stephen Lendman lives in Chicago. He can be reached at lendmanstephen@sbcglobal.net. His new book as editor and contributor is titled "Flashpoint in Ukraine: US Drive for Hegemony Risks WW III."

<http://www.claritypress.com/LendmanIII.html> Visit his blog site at sjlendman.blogspot.com. Listen to cutting-edge discussions with distinguished guests on the Progressive Radio News Hour on the Progressive Radio Network. It airs three times weekly: live on Sundays at 1PM Central time plus two prerecorded archived programs.

Disclaimer: The contents of this article are of sole responsibility of the author(s). The Centre for Research on Globalization will not be responsible for any inaccurate or incorrect statement in this article. The Centre of Research on Globalization grants permission to cross-post Global Research articles on community internet sites as long the source and copyright are acknowledged together with a hyperlink to the original Global Research article. For publication of Global Research articles in print or other forms including commercial internet sites, contact: publications@globalresearch.ca www.globalresearch.ca contains copyrighted material the use of which has not always been specifically authorized by the copyright owner. We are making such material available to our readers under the provisions of "fair use" in an effort to advance a better understanding of political, economic and social issues. The material on this site is distributed without profit to those who have expressed a prior interest in receiving it for research and educational purposes. If you wish to use copyrighted material for purposes other than "fair use" you must request permission from the copyright owner.

For media inquiries: publications@globalresearch.ca