The American people should, in the words of Vietnam War Veteran Brian Willson "place themselves in the position of people living in targeted countries."

What most people in America do not know –and which is particularly relevant when assessing the alleged "threats" of the DPRK to World peace– is that North Korea lost nearly thirty percent of its population as a result of US led bombings in the 1950s

Every single family in North Korea has lost a loved one in the course of the Korean War (1950-53).
