Last weekend, the Syrian Arab Army (SAA) and its allies continued their counter-attack at the Al-Sina'a District (Industrial District) in the Deir Ezzor province's capital, striking ISIS militants at east of this area. According to the ground reports, the Syrian forces advanced at the Al-Sina'a District, capturing several buildings including the welding and sewing factories. The clashes are continuing.

The Syrian forces have continued offensive operations in the Deir Hafer Plains in the Aleppo province. Since last Friday, the pro-government forces seized the villages of Jarouf, Tal Al-Sharbi, and 'Umm Kharwah and continued their advance towards Al-Bab. Additionally, the SAA is advancing in the direction of the city of Deir Hafer.

The Syrian Democratic Forces (SDF) which include Syrian Kurds supported by separate Arab units have been continuing military operations to capture the area of the Tishreen Dam which links the Aleppo and Al-Raqqah provinces. By Dec.26 the SDF has captured the Tishreen Dam and continued offensive operation in the direction of the Aleppo province. Separately, the SDF took control of several villages in the province including Al-Waysi located near the vast Euphrates River, in few kilometers from the Turkish border.

The most possible aims of the SDF in East Aleppo are the ISIS stronghold of Menbeij near the Turkish border and the Jarabulus border-crossing. Thus, the US-backed forces are clearly threatening Ankara's interests in Syria. It could lead to a new phase of cooling of the US-Turkish relations. Also it provokes Turkey into additional military build-up and into increasing its support of terrorists on Syrian territory.
