Theme: Militarization and WMD, US NATO War Agenda

From the outset of the post World War II period to the present, America's global military design has been one of world conquest. War and globalization are intricately related. Militarization supports powerful economic interests. America's "Long War" is geared towards worldwide corporate expansion and the conquest of new economic frontiers.

The concept of the "Long War" is an integral part of U.S. military doctrine. Its ideological underpinnings are intended to camouflage the hegemonic project of World conquest. Its implementation relies on a global alliance of 28 NATO member states.

In turn, the U.S. as well as NATO have established beyond the "Atlantic Region" a network of bilateral military alliances with "partner" countries directed against Russia, China, Iran and North Korea. What we are dealing with is a formidable military force, deployed in all major regions of the World.
