In the dawn of the day of April 22nd, 1995, the Rwandan Patriotic Army (RPA) seized the moment to perpetuate one of the largest massacres in the history of the Rwandan tragedy in Kibeho camp, home to more than 100,000 internally displaced refugee.

Today, this tragic episode has been kept silent. The Rwandan government has officially only recognized 338 victims, "mostly Interahamwe militia and former genocidaires". The massacre that took place in Kibeho in 1995 remains a non-existing event for the Rwandan authorities.

The current regime in Rwanda has managed to falsely represent the slaughter that took place in Kibeho as a military operation that slightly escalated in history and curricular books. As such, thousands of children, women and men have indeed become forgotten in Rwandan history. (JambonNews.net)
