Friday April 27th, 2018 a 'historic' meeting between South Korean leader Moon Jae-in and North Korean leader Kim Jong-un took place in the demilitarized zone between the two countries.

Both leaders signed onto a joint declaration to cease hostile acts, pursue denuclearization of both countries and engage other world powers, including the United States, in this process.

In a special breaking report for GRTV, Professor Michel Chossudovsky comments on the significance of this meeting, coming as it does weeks before another expected meeting between the North Korean leader and US President Trump.
