We cannot definitively pinpoint the root cause of these mysterious deaths but want to direct readers to a piece noted last week titled "German Newspaper Highlights 'Unusually Large' Number Of Soccer Players Who Have Collapsed Recently."

In that, we outlined German newspaper Berliner Zeitung reported an "unusually large number of professional and amateur soccer players have collapsed recently." Though it's not death, we find the sudden collapse of the sports players appears to be very strange and possibly health-related.

It's too early to speculate if people are suddenly dying or collapsing due to COVID-19 vaccine-related issues such as heart muscle inflammation (myocarditis). This is a trend that should be closely monitored.
